MURRAY RETIRES FROM RAILWAY WORK

President Of D. & O. System, Who Rose From Position As Track Laborer, Gives Up Active Work.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Baltimore, Md., Jan. 14.—Oscar Murray's career of fourteen years as the active head of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company ended today when his resignation as president of the railroad company became effective and he retired to assume the honorary position as chairman of the executive board. His successor in the presidency, Mr. Daniel Willard, formerly vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, will enter upon his new duties tomorrow. The new president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad began his career as a track laborer in 1879 on the old Central Vermont Railroad. His opportunity came when he was selected to run an engine on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Since then his rise has been steady. Having attained an engineering position, Mr. Willard made such an exceptionally good one that the Lake Shore management made him a train-master. His first really important position was with the Baltimore & Ohio, where he was assistant general manager and then acting manager between February 1889, and June 1901. Mr. Willard then went to the Erie as the president's assistant, and soon became vice president. In 1904 James J. Hill made him second vice president of the Burlington in charge of operation, which position he held until the present change.

LAYMEN BEGIN BIG CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK CITY TONIGHT

Supporters Of Undenominational Missionary Movement Rally At Monster Banquet At Hotel Astor.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Jan. 14.—Thousands of earnest supporters of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, which aims at Christianizing the entire world during the present generation, have arrived here to attend the conference in support of the movement which is expected to culminate in a monster rally in Chicago in May next. The idea behind the movement is that the laymen of the world are moving in such a way as to open the door to missions, and that if the opportunity is seized at once no such favorable opening may again be offered. A campaign of education on a national scale is conducted by the Laymen's Missionary Movement, with the endorsement of the Foreign Mission at Boards of America. The movement is not connected with any church, and is entirely in the hands of laymen. One of the objects of the campaign is to raise a fund of $20,000,000 for the purpose of Christianizing the world. The conference, which will open here tonight with a dinner for 3000 at the Hotel Astor will continue through tomorrow and will close on Sunday with a big mass meeting at the Hippodrome.

GAY LIFE ENDS IN MYSTERIOUS DEATH

"Nat" Moore, Son of Millions, Dies in Chicago Resort.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Jan. 14.—The mysterious death of Nathaniel Ford Moore, millionaire clubman, continues to hold the attention of the police. Every effort is being made to learn the cause. Mrs. Moore is prostrated.

Young Moore was 26 years old, the son of James H. Moore, capitalist. He was found dead in a room at No. 111 Dearborn street under conditions which have led to an investigation. "Nat" Moore was raised in luxury. His father's millions were at his command.

In 1907 he created a sensation in New York by a dinner for the men; a number of his friends, men and women. The celebration was in honor of "Nat" Moore's birthday. Fifteen couples were present.

Gold and diamond sleeve buttons were the favors for the men; pearl necklaces for the women. It is estimated that the one night's entertainment cost Mr. Moore about $20,000.

Last summer Mr. Moore collapsed at the Minequa golf links in Minequa, Wis. He was a championship golfer and had won his championships. He recovered and shortly after the announcement that he was tired of touring. "I'm going to work," he said. "I'll

WAS MRS. HEDGER A VICTIM OF ASSAULT?

Defense Springs Surprise Upon the Jury in This Important Murder Trial Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 14.—For the first time in the history of the Hedger murder cases the criminal assault theory was advanced this morning.

The suggestion was made by Francis E. McGovern for the defense in his argument to the jury. Mr. McGovern alluded to testimony of Dr. Wilhelm Becker, who made the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Hedger, that makes this explanation possible. He cited the statement of Dr. Becker on the witness stand that he had thought of assault when a discovery to which he had alluded was made and said that Chief of Police John J. Janssen had had the same thought when informed of the disclosure of the post-mortem examination. Clothes worn by Mrs. Hedger when she was killed were displayed to sup-

VOTE ON A BIG BOND ISSUE IN SAN FRANCISCO

QUESTION OF PURCHASE PURE WATER SUPPLY COMES UP TODAY.

IS MOST IMPORTANT STEP

Taken By the City in Eight Years Fight To Secure Pure Drinking Water and Break Loose From Alleged Extortion Water Company.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 14.—Not only the city and county of San Francisco but the entire nation is interested in the special election here today to decide upon the proposed bond issue for the purchase of the Spring Valley Water Company's plant and the development of the Lake Eleanor-Tuolumne dam and connections to bring the water from the Sierra to San Francisco. The proposition calls for the issue of $45,000,000 in bonds for the Lake Eleanor-Tuolumne system and $35,000,000 for the purchase of the Spring Valley property.

The election is the most important step yet taken in the eight years' battle waged by the city of San Francisco to obtain an adequate supply of pure water and at the same time free itself from the alleged extortion of the Spring Valley Water Company, a private corporation which for years has controlled the water supply. During all this time a bitter hostility has existed between the city and the water company and every effort made by the municipality to purchase or otherwise obtain control of the water company has proved futile. Recently, however, when it became apparent to everyone that the city was in earnest in its determination to control the water supply, the corporation was brought to terms and made an offer to sell its plant and rights to the city for $35,000,000. This is one of the two propositions to be decided by today's election.

But still greater obstacles remain to be overcome before the present project for the municipal water supply can become an accomplished fact. San Francisco desires that its new water supply shall be drawn from the famous Hetch Hetchy region, which has been set aside by the Federal government as a national park. The scenic beauty of Hetch Hetchy has been pronounced to be greater than that of any other section of the country, and it was but natural, therefore, that the proposal of the city of San Francisco to construct dams and reservoirs within the park should meet with vigorous protests. Congress was persuaded to pass a measure authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to grant reasonable rights for certain specified purposes, among them reservoirs for domestic supply works, on public reservations and lands, and the three national parks in California were specifically named in the act as being amenable to its provisions.

Mr. Hillebrand, then Secretary of the Interior, declined to make the grant on the ground that it would not be compatible with the public interest to do so. The city then appealed to President Roosevelt, who, yielding to the city's every opportunity to make out a case, urged Secretary Hillebrand to reconsider. In his reply to the President the Secretary pointed out that in the first place no public necessity appeared to exist which would call for so great a surrender of park lands, and in the second place, to that the law creating the park required him to protect its "natural earliness and wonders" and to retain them in their natural condition. Mr. Hillebrand remained unshaken in his position, and the progress was made.

Nothing more was done until Mr. Hillebrand retired and Mr. Garfield came into office. When the city asked for a rehearing, then the Secretary authorized the city to proceed along certain very carefully specified lines. The grant authorized the city to proceed at once to create a storage basin at Lake Eleanor, on the Northwestern border of the park. But San Francisco wanted more title to carry out its plans, and consequently it decided to take another tact. The city purchased about seven hundred acres of privately owned land within the reservation and offered to exchange it for a larger area of Government land occupying the site desired for the great storage reservoir. The offer was considered at the last session of Congress, but the opposition prevented any favorable action being taken. The final decision will be made at the Congress now in session.

The opposition to the plans of San Francisco to acquire rights in the Hetch Hetchy valley argues that other sources of supply might be obtained without marring the scenic beauty of the national reservation. Those most hostile to the city's plans allege that Hetch Hetchy is favored because it would cost less to bring the water from that region and also that the project created a vital water power rights of incalculable value not to be found elsewhere. On the other hand, it is claimed that the engineers' surveys have established the fact that a supply of pure water adequate to the city's future needs can be obtained from no other source than the Hetch Hetchy project and to deprive a great city of pure water supply in order that the scenic beauties of the national park may remain unmarred for the enjoyment of a few thousand tourists.

COUNTY BOARD'S SESSION ENDED

MANY DIVERSE MATTERS RECEIVED ATTENTION.

AT THE MEETING TODAY

Doctors' Bills Questioned—Contract for Almshouse Annex Authorized—Resolutions Against State Aid for Roads.

After considerable discussion of the various details, the county board late yesterday afternoon adopted the report of Committee No. 6 on the investigation of the highways. This morning a resolution introduced by Supervisor Jones and providing that no road should be accepted by the county until at least one year after its completion was passed by unanimous vote. The county pays for repairs only on such improved highways as have been formally accepted. The regular report of Committee No. 6 on the amounts drawn from the several highway funds and expended was also submitted and adopted this morning.

$35 for Soldiers' Burials.
Supervisors Clemens, Crail, Livermore, Roach, and Shoemaker were absent from the forenoon session. Committee 14, through its chairman, H. D. Treadway, announced that vouchers had been checked up and the accounts of the trustees of the almshouse and asylum, the superintendent of that institution, and the superintendents of the poor verified and found correct. Likewise the report of Simon Smith, chairman of the special relief committee, showing $437.74 receipts, $177.10 disbursements, and a balance of $260.64 on hand. The committee recommended that the amount paid by the county towards defraying the burial expenses of ex-soldiers and their widows who die in indigent circumstances be limited to $35. Supervisor Bear thought that the sum was rather small and pointed out the fact that the undertaker wanted $40 from the county for the funeral of John Schindler, the self-confessed thief who committed suicide, and when Poormaster Anderson doubted the amount exorbitant, told that official to take the body away—an adjustment being finally reached on the basis of $37. It was argued by Supervisor Treadway, however, that as long as the statute provided that the money had to go to the undertaker and not to the friends or relatives of the deceased, it would be just as well to keep it as low as possible in order to prevent the said artisans from "grafting on the county." The report was adopted without opposition.

$200 Bill Disallowed.
Orders were passed reimbursing County Commissioner of Highways H. L. Skavlen to the amount of $45.47 for cash advanced from his private purse for certain road repairs and for $18 for the printing of his annual report in 1908. The board voted that hereafter his annual reports should be printed and paid for by Committee 15.

Some of the more notable items of the board were disposed of by Committee 15. The report of the board of health, Committee No. 13, which passed on claims. The report was made by Dr. G. C. Waele, M. A. Cunningham, J. P. Pomeroy, Frank W. Van Kirk, G. F. Chittenden, and Charles Sutherland for $5 each for examinations of the dead, and Dr. R. W. Elden for $15 for three of these examinations. District Attorney J. L. Fisher explained that although inquests which would cost the county from $15 to $50 were no longer called in cases of sudden death unless there was grave doubt and mystery involved in such tragedies it had always been deemed expedient as a precautionary measure to have some competent expert examine the remains and definitely ascertain facts which might thereafter be useful in determining questions of insurance, etc., which might arise at any time. In the Babcock case, he said, one of the relatives had not been satisfied with the findings of one physician, the effect of that there was no evidence to show that shots had been exchanged and he had called another one. As a general rule, however, but one physician was called and the examinations they conducted were not always the most pleasant kind of work.

The committee approved of all of these bills but recommended the disallowance of Dr. Edith V. Bartlett's claim for $200 for saving an infant, of disordered parentage, from blindness. It appears that the child was taken to a Chicago specialist and the sight saved by dint of a very precarious and infrequently successful sort of operation and treatment. Supervisor M. P. Richardson objected that the report, with the exception of the disallowance of this claim, be adopted. The motion was lost by a vote of 21 to 12 and the report in its entirety was subsequently adopted.

Almshouse Addition.
The building committee, through its chairman, E. C. Hopkins, recommended that the contract for the projected new addition to the almshouse be awarded to Summers & Son, the lowest bidder, and that the two options on the installation of the heating plant be left to the building committee, the architect, and the trustees of the asylum. On motion, the recommendations of the committee were adopted and a resolution was passed instructing the committee and the district attorney to draw up and sign a contract and appropriate $12,000 to be used as needed. The proposition of a new barn which was brought up at the November meeting was not regarded with favor and no action was taken.

Claims and Bills.
Committee No. 13, in a supplementary report, referred the matter of Judge Ross's salary during his absence from county and state and the Board municipal court back to the board without recommendation. Recommendation was made that in compliance with Chap. 25 of the laws of 1909 the sum of $200 be added to the tax roll. The report was accepted. District Attorney J. L. Fisher reported that during the past year $110.30 of the above fund went to W. P. Mason for services and expenses in the Cronin case and $23.80 to W. R. Williams for detective work in the same connection, and that the balance on hand was $66.14. The general cleanup committee, through Supervisor John Fisher, submitted a report on bills approved which included the item of $1,698.11 from the Wisconsin Industrial school and $110.30 from the town of Magnolia for crow hounding paid in that locality.

Saloon Licenses.
The committee on licenses reported that Deloit with 31 saloons had paid $825 and still owes the county $875; that Janesville with 49 saloons had paid the county nothing; that Edgerton with 10 saloons had paid the county $460; that Clinton had paid $150; and that the town of Janesville had paid $50; total revenue from that source $1,475. Supervisor Elliott explained that one of the Edgerton licenses had been granted after the money had been turned over to the county. Supervisor M. P. Richardson explained that Janesville had been delinquent by reason of the change in the time of collecting taxes and that that money would be paid right after the next council meeting.

Opposed to State Aid.
In response to a communication from the Waukesha county board of supervisors on the subject, S. S. Jones presented for the consideration of his associates a set of resolutions wherein it was set forth that the Rock county board was also opposed to state aid for road building; was opposed to any plan which contemplated anything other than the county as the unit for such construction; was opposed to any law which might assume to tax Rock county for the building of any highways located elsewhere than within its borders; was opposed to any state commission with exclusive powers with reference to highway construction; favored an amendment fixing the minimum standard for road construction in favor of having the state furnish surveys and drainage plans on request; was favorable to having town chairmen and the supervisors who assist him compensated for their road-building services out of the joint town and county funds; and was in favor of having all repairs exceeding $10 in cost made under the joint supervision of the Commissioner of Highways and the chairman of the town. The resolutions were approved and directions were given that a copy be sent to Waukesha.

Some of the Salaries.
Supervisor J. L. Bear of the finance committee recommended appropriations for the following purposes: Paul, books, etc., for court house, $5,000; sheriff's salary, $1,500; to be paid the sheriff for the board of prisoners on Jan. 1, April 1, July 1, and Oct. 1, 1910, $625; turnkey's salary, $400; Deputy Sheriff P. H. Carter of Deloit, $180; Janesville municipal judge's salary, $1,500; Deloit municipal judge's salary, $1,500; county assessor, $1,200; commissioner of highways, $1,200; clerk of circuit court, $1,700; registrar in probate, $1,000; county poor superintendents, $450 each; janitor of court house, $720; county judge, $3,000; support of the poor, $6,000.

Report on Highways.
Highway Commissioner H. L. Skavlen this afternoon made an exhaustive report on the highway construction work during the past year and the expenditures involved. The board expected to complete its work and adjourn sine die sometime this afternoon.

RURAL ROUTES ARE OUT OF COMMISSION

Carriers Forced to Give Up Attempt to Deliver Their Mail Today.

All rural mail carriers this morning out from the postoffice this morning and an attempt was made to give the people on the routes the regular mail service, but few of them got more than two or three miles at the utmost and all of them had returned before noon to report the roads as impassable. The drifts in some cases were reported as being so deep that the horses have had to plow through snow up to the knees, and farmers who have managed to get through say that the highways are drifted four times as bad as they were yesterday. The lot of the city carriers has been no easy one today. The drifted snow makes walking exceedingly hard. Their labor has been considerably lightened by the blockade on the railroads, none of the night trains coming through and many of today's trains being held back by the drifts which they encounter. When the trains start running more regular, it will mean more work for all at the postoffice as the delayed mail will have to be handled and delivered immediately.

POSTOFFICE HAS MADE BIG GAINS

MANY THOUSAND DOLLARS INCREASE IN BUSINESS DURING PAST YEAR.

INCREASE, 12 1-2 PER CENT.

Business of This Department Shows Increased Prosperity of the City.

During the past twelve months the Janesville postoffice has increased its business over that of the previous twelve months by $5,977.51, a gain of twelve and a half per cent. Each quarter as compared with last year shows an increase. For the first quarter ending March 31, 1908, the receipts were $11,717.32; for the same period in 1909 it was $12,265.31. The second quarter ends June 30 and in 1908 it was $11,234 and in 1909 $14,625.68. The third quarter in 1908 was $11,623.33 and in 1909 $12,452.79. The fourth quarter in 1908 was $12,924.74 and in 1909, $14,757.13. The total for 1908 was $47,550.27 and for 1909, $55,527.91.

The money order department showed a decided increase. In 1908 the domestic orders drawn were 13,132 in number with a total amount of $85,590.78 handled, while for 1909 some 14,345 orders were sold to the value of $92,728.15. In 1908 the international orders number 343 with a valuation of $6,571.74, while for the same period in 1909 403 orders were issued to the value of $8,300.36. The total valuation for 1908 was $90,162.52 and for 1909 $101,028.51. The total number of orders issued in 1908 was 13,475 and for 1909 was 14,549.

The money orders paid in the Janesville postoffice also show a decided increase in cash values. In 1908 there were 14,447 orders with a valuation of $97,651.71 paid in the domestic branch and 71 with a valuation of $1,712.47, a total of 14,518 orders with a cash value of $99,364.18. In 1909 there were 15,228 domestic orders with a cash value of $98,257.12 and 77 foreign orders with a value of $1,918.53, a total of 15,305 orders and a valuation of $100,175.65.

In the registry division the following figures are found which show a decided gain:
The registers received in 1908 were 12,827; in 1909, 14,293. The registers dispatched in 1908 were 20,356; in 1909, 22,285. The registers handled in transit in 1908 were 3,276; in 1909 3,871. The total registers handled in 1908 were 36,459 and in 1909, 41,449 which shows an increase of 4,990 pieces.

In the money order division the figures are as follows: The total number of money orders handled in 1908 were 29,414 with a value of $201,101.16. The number made in 1909, 28,192 with a value of $189,828.16. This makes a total gain in 1909 of 1,221 with a value of $11,276.00.
In the mailing division the figures are: The count of mail handled on January 7th showed the following: Number of pieces of mail dispatched 14,444; the number of pieces of mail received, 16,839; the number of pieces of mail in transit, 280; or a total number of pieces of mail handled of 31,731. This was a good deal lower than what would be an average amount of mail handled per day, as on that day there were none of the catalogues or advertising matter which usually flood the office.

DON SLAWSON HAS BEEN SUSPENDED FROM SCHOOL.

Until School Board of City Shall Decide What Shall Be Done With Him for Threat to Teacher.

Don Slawson, the second ward youth, disciplined for his behavior, who frightened his teacher, Miss Mae Clark of the Adams school, by waving a revolver at her and threatening her life, was suspended from school yesterday afternoon by Superintendent H. C. Buell pending the action of the school board in the matter. The superintendent had a talk yesterday afternoon with the young man and his mother. Mrs. Slawson is heart-broken over the affair.

The weapon which the lad used to intimidate his teacher is now in the possession of Superintendent Buell. As a firearm it is absolutely useless, but Miss Clark is unaware of this when he thrust it in on her and the lad's evasive purpose was accomplished. The hammer has been broken, the firing pin lost and the cylinder of the revolver which is a double action one, refuses to turn when the trigger is pulled back. From a hasty glance it would appear to be all right.

The school board will decide on the case at their next meeting, which occurs on the first Monday in January.

COUNCIL CANVASSED ELECTION RETURNS

Six aldermen, exactly a quartet, were present, Mayor Carlo presiding. As it was a special meeting no other business was transacted and the session lasted about fifteen minutes.

Flangeless Driving Wheels.

A remarkable feature for its extraordinary sharp curves. The drive wheels are flangeless, and to keep the engine from leaving the track it is necessary to resort to an arrangement of guiding wheels, revolving at right angles to the drivers and presenting flat surfaces against the flange of the rails.

Honor.

Honor is that quality which prompts a man to avenge attacks upon his own women, but fails to restrain him from making attacks upon other men's women.—Smart Set.

A disappointment early in the season, Jack McKerron was a winner for top honors in the M. and M. at Hartford and again at Syracuse, Detroit in opening the grand circuit. It so can make his way to a good place among the money winners of 1909 despite his bad start.

THE SCRAP IN WISCONSIN

The scrap in Wisconsin between the two factions of the self-styled republican party is outside the ranks of the old conservative element which kept Senator Spooner in congress, and is of special interest only to the La Follette following, past and present.

It involves Senator Stephenson, who was at one time an infatuated follower, and who beyond doubt paid the full price of admission. Mr. Connor is threatened with the same record and Mr. Cook; he refused to stand hatched.

The press supporting these factions in an initial campaign is divided between democracy and disgruntled republican organs. If there is enough left of the democratic party to organize and take advantage of the situation they are reasonably sure of victory in the state campaign this year.

The old democratic party in Wisconsin, however, is a thing of the past. Bryan demoralized it beyond recognition, and the faded element was captured by his admirer, La Follette.

That the senior senator is still satisfactory to his complex constituency is apparent to the most casual observer. His colleague is long on money but short on red blood and oratory, while Connor, et al, has never succeeded in making any serious dents in the atmosphere.

The conservative press of the state will not endorse very much over either aggregation. It has never taken very kindly to La Folletteism and supported Stephenson two years ago as the less of two evils.

The publishers of this class are reasonably content to run newspapers and as there is no state organization worthy of the name their loyalty will be centered on the republican national administration.

GOOD ADVICE

The following sensible advice from a financial journal may be read and digested with profit:

"It is not essential to the happiness and prosperity of the United States that the rules of the House of Representatives at Washington shall be changed. They need only to be fairly administered. It is essential that the republican party should shake itself free from the dominance of a kind of politics we are happily beginning to outgrow. This control has subordinated the public good to private interest. It is a sordid, narrow, unpatriotic, and in its influence at least, always potentially corrupt. Without troubling to comment or reflect upon Mr. Cannon's personal character, he is attacked in his own party because he stands now, as he has always stood, for exactly that kind of politics.

"The matter is much broader than the individual career of a politician who has been well paid for his services over a long period of years. If that were all that were involved, the efficiency and honor of our national system of government would not come into the case. We have suffered too much from a kind of politics which ignores honor, with the result that the business of the country is likely to be prejudiced by a belated and costly effort of the republican party to show at the congressional election in November that it has done something."

"What would be much better than doing something would be undoing many things. The great reforms of history, especially in self-governing countries, have been not in the inauguration of new laws and new policies, but in the repeal of old abuses. The contribution to liberty of the British reform bill of 1832 was not the extension of the franchise so much as the extinction of the pocket borough. The abolition of the corn laws in the same country in 1848 incidentally reduced the number of taxable imports from something in the neighborhood of 200 to less than 20. Tariff reform in this country, which need by no means abandon the principle of protection, properly and justly expressed, would be in the same direction.

"What is wanted in Washington now, if the republican party is to go to the country with real evidence of a change of heart, is not the enactment of new laws to fetter the business of the country, where the public is already amply protected, but the remodeling of our fiscal, currency and banking systems, the drastic reduction of expenditures made for theatrical effect or to help party machinery, without real consideration for the public good, the impartial enforcement of the law, the reorganization of a wasteful civil service, and the recognition that if the fullest publicity is necessary to protect us against the corporations, it is ten times more necessary to protect us against the politicians."

AS OTHERS SEE US

One of the best and most readable special editions that has come to the Commonwealth in many a day is the "Prosperity Review Edition" of the Janesville Gazette, issued Dec. 31. The edition comprised 38 pages and besides including a complete chronology of the local events of the year, was replete with comprehensive writings of business and manufacturing institutions which are contributing to the prosperity of Janesville and making it one of the leading commercial centers of the state. The edition contains a liberal amount of advertising showing that the merchants of Janesville appreciate the value of the Gazette as an advertising medium. The edition gives evidence of much careful work both on the part of the business office and the editorial department and reflects now credit on the publishers who have long since established a reputation as being live wires in the newspaper business. Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

The main sewer, which discharges in the river below the old cotton mill site, is nearing completion. The cement pipe, which has been made on the ground, is six feet in diameter, and the trench for a part of the distance is more than 20 feet deep. The contract is being faithfully carried out in spite of heavy loss to the contractors. The $15,000 paid by the city represents an investment of anywhere from $50,000 up. The work will be completed in about two weeks, and the city will be benefited for all time to come.

The corporations of the country have been obliged to adopt a policy of publicity for their own protection as well as to meet the demands of the public, and the press agent is now a member of every office staff. If the common council will abolish the star chamber and pursue the same open policy, so that the people may know what their representatives are doing, and what they propose to do, there will be less cause for criticism.

State Senator Barker of Milwaukee is about to announce his candidacy for governor on the local option ticket. The fact is generally understood that county option will be the issue in the state campaign. Should it become a law, as it is very likely to, Rock county will be one of the first to adopt it, as the temperance sentiment throughout the county is very strong.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

I'm tired of the bootless questions that rise in my vagrant mind; I gaze at the stars and wonder how many may be behind; a myriad of worlds are whirling, concealed by the nearer spheres; and there they have coursed their orbits a million million years. I gaze at the spangled spaces, the bed of billion stars from the luminous veil of Venus, to the militant glare of Mars, and wonder, when all is ended, as ended all things must be, if the Captain will then remember I poor little soul like me, I'm tired of the endless questions that come, and will not become, when I face to the east and witness the miracle of the dawn; the march of the shining couriers o'er forest and sea and land; the splendor of gorgeous colors applied by the Captain's hand; the parting of crimson curtains afar in the azure steep; the hush of a world-wide wonder, when even the zephyrs sleep. And I look on the birth of morning as millions have gazed before, and question the wave that questions the rocks and the sandy shore. "When all of these things are ended, as ended these things must be, will the Captain of all remember a poor little soul like me?"

THE IDLE QUESTION

Only a dreamer asks Time and Tide to wait for him, when he might "head" them off, sell Time for money, and make Tide turn a mill wheel.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

IN THE FOG.

A heavy fog settles down over the earth and shuts out your vision.

The only clear space is the immediate circle about you. As you wait through the haze the clear spot follows and remains about you.

Everybody except yourself is shut out by the fog.

Your neighbor has a like experience. As he views the situation, you are enveloped in the fog and he is the center of the only bright spot.

Is it not so?

And thereby hangs a moral.

It is characteristic of average humanity to self-center itself. Each man thinks he can see clearly enough, but that those about him are badly befogged.

Each man fancies he is wise concerning the things he presumes to know, and each fancies his neighbor is unwise because he "cannot see things." Each believes the other wrong, when, as a matter of fact, both may be in the fog.

For instance—

You may think your political party is the one that must save the country, while your neighbor may regard you as a blind partisan and think his party is the commissioned instrument of national salvation.

You say your church is the only church that has the real right of way up to the pearly gates. The other man says you are wrong and his route is the straight and narrow way.

You think he is in a haze. He knows you are.

And there we are.

The whole trouble lies in the fact that we lack the full sweep of the wider horizon. We are all of us more or less befogged. Only a few great souls struggle out of the lower earth into the heights that are lit up by the clear sunshine.

Because of our limited view we are apt to become narrow, provincial, prejudiced and maybe conceited.

Let us be very sure the fog has cleared away before we presume too much. With becoming humility let us be slow to criticize our fellow travelers. Because—

Some of us will never get the wider scope of vision until the earth fog shall have been eternally dispelled.

Your angle of vision and mine are one-sided. Our little are a small part of the great circle. Our luminous little spot is but a speck in the earth fog.

CRANBERRY GROWERS HEAR DISCUSSIONS

Wisconsin Growers of the Little Red Berry Learn of Methods Used in Other Districts.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Grand Rapids, Wis., Jan. 14.—About fifty cranberry men are in this city attending the Wisconsin Cranberry Growers' Association convention, which meeting is being held in the council rooms on the West side. At one of the meetings Mr. William C. Devereaux, of the Weather Bureau, Milwaukee, gave a short talk on the tribulation of precipitation of rainfall in the cranberry districts. He also showed how growers in Colorado protect cranberries by use of smudges, and that it would be possible to have the same methods adopted in Wisconsin.

Mr. C. B. Hardenberg, of the United States Field Bureau, Washington, D. C., gave a short talk on insects and other worms, and how they can be controlled by spraying and other methods. He also told of his experience on the cranberry question during his employment for the past four years with the Field Bureau. O. G. Mauldin, of the Experiment Station, Cranmoor, gave a short talk on the cranberry vine, and effect of iron sulphate when properly applied. He also stated that it would be possible to have a canal dug from the Wisconsin river to the cranberry marshes in order that water during certain seasons of the year. He also submitted figures to show that this could be done. A paper was read by Mr. A. Searle, Grand Rapids, which showed the necessity of smudging, and to be more careful in handling the cranberry vine. The talk by Attorney John A. Gaylor, of this city, was to show that it would be necessary to have the vines placed in a vertical position and not horizontally, as some are left to grow, in order to get a better crop of upright cranberries; and that if left to grow in a horizontal position, it can be more produce a good crop of cranberries than a stalk of wheat or corn when laid horizontally when starting to yield. Mr. A. U. Chaney, Manager of National Fruit Exchange, New York city, spoke on the weather conditions and its effect on sales and marketing of cranberries; also that present switchmen's strike has a great deal to do with lack of cranberry sales in northwest. Trade in Georgia and Alabama, where cranberries had never been sold before, is beginning to open in a very encouraging manner.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, E. C. Tuttle, Mather; Vice President, O. S. Potter, Grand Rapids; Secretary, J. W. Fitch, Cranmoor; Member of Executive Committee, S. A. Warner, Warrens; Treas., J. J. Emmerick, Cranmoor.

In Praise of Sincerity.

Sincerity is like traveling in a plain, beaten road, which commonly brings a man sooner to his journey's end than byways in which men often lose themselves.—Tillotson.

The Triumphant Feminine.

Woman's superiority over man is proved by the fact that she can be a heroine even to the maid who pins on her switches and adjusts her hat.

A FRIGID ONE.

Misses—Did you tell the lady I was out, Vera?

Vera—Yes, mum!

Misses—Did she seem to have any doubt about it?

"Pulling" or "Pushing."

The action of a horse hitched to a wagon is generally regarded as pulling. This is an old catch-question, often answered by disputants with the argument that since the animal pushes against the breast-piece of the harness, or the collar, his action is therefore pushing.

That Cavity

That cavity that you have been feeling with your tongue for the past days or weeks will grow larger and larger if not attended to. It will begin to ache shortly.

A young man came into my office the other day and said:

"Doctor, I can feel a couple of cavities in my teeth with my tongue. They don't hurt yet, but I want them filled."

The younger generation seems to be getting wiser.

An examination by a dentist twice a year is now too often for health and safety.

JANESVILLE CENTER OF A RAILROAD BLOCKADE TODAY

BIG SNOW PLOW ON NORTHWEST-ERN ROAD OFF THE TRACK SOUTH OF CITY.

MANY TRAINS ARE HELD UP

Passengers Are Being Cared for at Local Hotels or by Relief Expeditions With Coffee and Sandwiches.

Not since the great snow of 1881, when trains were snowbound for days and drifts higher than many houses were to be found in Janesville, when it was easier to dig a tunnel to the front walk than to clear a path, has Janesville been so snowbound as it is at the present time. The snow of Thursday and last night has drifted into every hollow and ravine, has piled high banks of the glistering white on sidewalks and roads in the city and country so that travel by train is almost impossible.

However, it is on the railroads that the effect of the storm is the most felt and since yesterday afternoon no trains have arrived on either road from the south and those from the north on the North-Western line are all blocked here and the passengers being cared for at the local hotels or by relief expeditions who are furnishing them with sandwiches and coffee. The delay in the freight and express, while not felt today seriously, will bring about a series of inconveniences to many business houses who expect consignments today. In fact there is now a scarcity of some lines of produce, such as eggs and but few merchants have any large supply on hand. Not only are the steam roads tied up but the Interurban is also out of commission for the time being. The local car line, however, has managed to keep its track clear and cars running by strenuous work during the night with snow-plows and shovels. Train schedules on both roads are absolutely demoralized. In fact, it is a cause for congratulation if a train, by hook or crook, can be pulled through at all. On the Northern Wisconsin and Wisconsin divisions of the North-Western and on the three divisions of the St. Paul running into the city, traffic is practically at a standstill. Limited trains are drifted in on all the lines, and although several have been sent out on the St. Paul, it is uncertain whether or not they will arrive at their destination.

The only division on either road that is open is the Madison division on the North-Western which connects with St. Paul and Minneapolis. But from Janesville south to Chicago, the line is blocked. As a result, there were nine passenger trains on the tracks in this city at noon today, waiting for the line to be cleared in order to proceed. Just when this could be accomplished, it was impossible to determine.

In the meantime, hungry passengers were conveyed from the coaches by a switch-engine and two cars and provided with meals at the local hotels at the expense of the railroad company. Just how long they can be accommodated in the coaches is unknown for although the supply of coal in the engines may last until the line is opened, the water may give out and the engines may be forced to "kill" the engines, in which case the heat will be withdrawn from the coaches.

At present the chief difficulty on the North-Western centers on the wreck of the snow-plow about four miles south of the new yards. This is complicated by the attitude of the snow shovellers which the road imported from Chicago. In an effort to clear the line last night, a big snow plow pushed by three engines was derailed on the main line and for nearly twenty hours ineffectual efforts have been made to put it into commission. Recognizing the fact that they held the whip hand and that nothing could be done without them, the 125 men from West Madison street, Chicago, this morning refused to move from the bank cars unless the road furnished them with warm caps, arctics and mittens. Six gallons of whiskey was also furnished to give them the necessary ambulation. After their demands had been granted and the clothing procured from a local store, the "workmen" condescended to help extricate the plow.

In the meantime, passenger trains from the north have piled into the local yards until the tracks are full. Among them are 502, 521, 504, 541, 512, 544, and it was expected that, before evening, more trains will have piled in. Much fear is expressed that the water supply will run short and the engines "die" in the yards.

On the other side of the wreck a number of north-bound trains are stalled. Train number 511, due here last night at 8:50, heads the procession with a long line behind it at irregular intervals. Five trains which passed through here yesterday, are blocked near Caladonia Junction. A number of trains, including 300 and 516, were annulled yesterday. Of the other trains run yesterday 529 is stuck near Caladonia and 505 at Clinton Junction.

On the St. Paul, no trains are running to or from Madison or to or from Chicago. But four trains have entered and left Janesville since yesterday noon. Late last night, about 2:30, train 21 arrived from Milwaukee, about five hours late, and left this morning at 7:30 for the return trip, but since then no news has been received in regard to its progress. At 11 o'clock this morning a special was sent to Milwaukee while a train from the east, which arrived here at the same time, was sent out on the Mineral Point division toward Broadhead and Monroe.

Train number 6, in charge of Conductor James Dunn, has been stalled between Monroe and Juda since last night and relief expeditions are being sent to the forty-two passengers from Monroe. The conductor, who left his train in a deep cut where the snow had drifted two feet above the tops of the coaches, attempted to make his way on foot to the nearest station, and was completely exhausted on his arrival. It was thought at the time that the exertion had proved too much for him.

According to the latest reports, three men carrying about three hundred sandwiches and pails of coffee went to relieve the hungry passengers. One engine on the train, had died while six men were kept at work shovelling snow into the tender in order to keep up steam.

On the R. & S. W. division there have been no arrivals from Deloit, Rockford and Davis Junction for over thirty-six hours. Number 124, due here last night at 5:30, is still drifted in at Clinton in company with four others, and relief is being sent to the passengers from Deloit.

According to reports, snow is drifted to a depth of eight and ten feet on the right of way between here and Deloit, while conditions between here and Mineral Point are still worse. The North-Western sent out a train on the Fond du Lac division at the regular hour this noon but then the train from Milwaukee due here at eight and the morning train from Fond du Lac have not been heard from. Many Janesville persons are known to be on the trains now in the blockade south of the city returning from Chicago.

Traffic on the Rockford and Interurban railway is absolutely at a standstill. There have been no cars since yesterday afternoon and officials state that no hopes are entertained that the line will be opened today. The snow plow is derailed about five miles south of the city.

START THEIR TEAM FOR BURLINGTON

High School Basketball Players Trying to Keep Their Engagement.

The basketball team of the Janesville high school started this morning for Burlington, Wis., in an attempt to keep the engagement they have with the Burlington five to play a game there this evening. Owing to the blocked condition of railroad traffic, it was at first doubtful as to whether they would be able to make the trip. A special train to Milwaukee was started out by the C. & M. & St. P. railroad this morning at eleven o'clock, and by travelling on this train to Waukesha, they expected to go the rest of the trip on the Wisconsin Central railroad and reach their destination in time for the contest. The members of the squad who went were Murphy, left forward; Koch, right forward; Homberg, center; Wilkinson, left guard; Green, right guard; and Korst, substitute. Coach Kinsman accompanied the boys on the trip.

FORMER SENATOR IS IN THE CITY TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Spooner Stopping in City as Result of Train Blockade.

Former United States Senator John C. Spooner and wife are in the city today on an enforced visit, the result of the present blockade of the railroads. They were on their way from Madison to Chicago, but when their train was held up in this city last night were obliged to register at a local hotel. Many friends of the former senator, who is now practicing law in New York, have taken the opportunity to visit him.

POLITICAL COURSE ADDED TO SCHOOL

Lawrence College Class Will Take Up Wisconsin Conditions as Special Course.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Appleton, Wis., Jan. 13.—A study of Wisconsin politics is the purpose of the organization of a class at Lawrence college under the instruction of Prof. J. G. Rosbush, who several years ago was defeated in this district for the assembly. The class at present comprises forty-five students, one from each of the many Wisconsin counties. During the Christmas vacation the students were instructed to make an investigation into political conditions in their home counties and at yesterday's meeting of the class the following findings were submitted:

First—That there is in Wisconsin at present an enthusiasm for Taft, reflecting his ultra conservative attitude and his failure thus far to accomplish things.

Second—That Badgers generally dislike Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon and dislike the recently passed tariff law.

Third—That sentiment generally favors Roosevelt for 1912.

Fourth—That there is no general change in sentiment regarding La Follette, but that his criticisms of the president, both verbally and in his publication, are unpopular.

Fifth—That as yet there is no crystallization of sentiment in favor of anyone thus far mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination.

LINE CITY FEELS EFFECT OF STORM

Deloit Is Snowbound—Not a Train or Interurban Car Is Moving.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Deloit, Wis., Jan. 14.—This city is literally snowbound. Not a train nor an interurban car has reached the city by noon. A passenger train on the St. Paul road, scheduled to leave here at 12:30 for Janesville, started out yesterday afternoon at three o'clock and got as far as Milton where it stuck in a drift. Thus far all efforts to dislodge it have been futile. The passengers are being fed on sandwiches and coffee sent up with a snow-plow train from Deloit. Besides the passenger train there are five engines tied up at that point in an effort to break through the blockade. The tender of one has jumped the track and progress is impeded.

The service on the city railway has been continued with splendid regularity. Deloit is said to be the only city where this condition prevails. To secure it the employees of the company worked all night.

A horse belonging to the city ice company broke through the ice yesterday while at work and was drowned.

At a mass meeting of the college students the delegates to the Rochester, N. Y., Conference of Student Volunteers made speeches about the convention.

FRENZIED FINANCE IS CHARGE FILED

Wealthy Resident Played Fast and Loose to Obtain More Wealth By Clever Means.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

La Crosse, Jan. 14.—As a result of obtaining money under false pretenses and carrying on a system of "frenzied finance" unequalled in this section, Judge Higbee in circuit court directed the district attorney of Vernon county to bring action against William Selbach, a prominent merchant of Rockton. The case is that of the Westby State bank against Bert Wood, W. Breidenstein, A. Holding, H. Taylor, William Selbach and the bank of Viroqua to recover the amount of a loan of $3,700 alleged to have been secured upon fraudulent representation. Selbach is rated as worth $75,000 and secured thousands of dollars upon notes and mortgages which were to have been destroyed, the obligations having been paid.

JUDGE KIRWAN HAS FILED HIS DECISION

Decides Nice Points in Law in Mantowoc Case—Will Be Appealed to Higher Court.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Mantowoc, Jan. 14.—A decision has been handed down by Judge Kirwan in circuit court in the case of the State Bank of West Bend vs. the Cartwright-Mattison Glove company, bankrupt, involving a mortgage and insurance on the old Wisconsin Chair company plant which burned five years ago. The Glove company bought the plant for $20,000 and gave a mortgage thereon, releasing the plant to the Chair company under an agreement. It is claimed that the Chair company was to protect the plant by insurance of $20,000. The mortgage was sold to the State bank and when five days later the plant four years ago it was discovered that the Chair company carried but $12,000 insurance. The bank sued to foreclose and the Glove company brought the Chair company in on a claim for $8,000, the difference between the mortgage and insurance. The case has been pending two years and in the decision the court holds for the State bank, but awards the Glove company damages for rentals, taxes and other claims, but not on insurance. The case will be appealed. The litigation has held from the market one of the most advantageous factory site properties in the city.

Rabbits in Australia.

Some one has calculated that the rabbits in Australia must reach the number of 1,000,000,000,000. But of course there is no means of taking a census; the calculation is largely guesswork. The foundation being a rough numbering of the rabbits to be found in an acre of country and multiplying that by the number of rabbit infested acres.

MICHIGAN SCANDAL AFFECTED HIS MIND

an injury he received early in the season and later to the trouble at the University. Meanwhile Michigan's athletic muddle is beginning to clear up. The election of Albert Benbrook practically closed one of the chapters in athletics, history will not be looked back to with pride. Joy Miller, who was to have been captain of the eleven, has been displaced by the faculty for his failure to enroll in classes last fall and may be further expelled or suspended from the university. Benbrook, the captain-elect, was named for all-American honors by Walter Camp last fall and declared to be one of the greatest guards that ever played. He is a junior and his home is in Chicago.

Wm. H. Crocker, millionaire banker, sued by Henry.

New York.—The libel suit filed last week by Francis T. Henry, of San Francisco graft prosecution fame, against William H. Crocker is attracting unusual attention because of the prominence of the men involved.

Crocker's charges, upon which the libel suit is based, were made in answer to an editorial which appeared in the New York Post, in which he was characterized as "one of the rich men of San Francisco who were willing to back Henry just so long as he confined his operations to the small fry, but undertook to try Patrick Calhoun and announced his intention of prosecuting respectable men higher up."

The letter which Crocker wrote in reply exposed satisfaction over the election and arraigned the members and methods of the graft prosecution in stinging terms.

"But there wasn't any excess," he protested.
"Yes, there was," she replied. "The book showed it."
"If you didn't have the money," he urged, "it was a shortage."
"Certainly not," she returned. "It was right there on the book—$8.15 more than I had—and when the balance was so much bigger than it should be I felt free to spend the money."

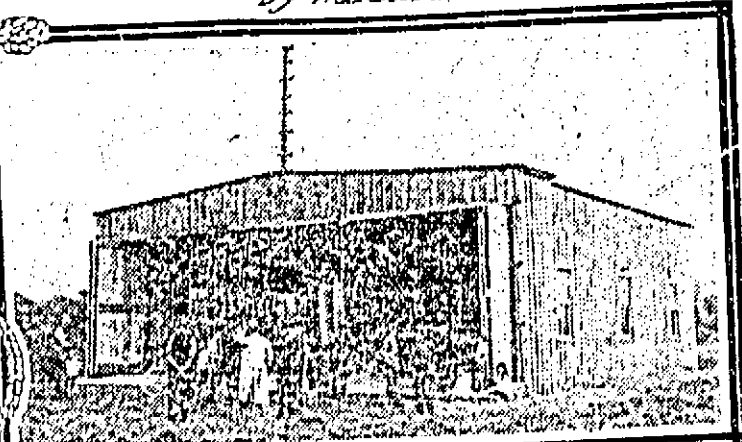

"If you had more money in your pocket than the book showed," he suggested, "what then?"
"I would have spent it," she answered. "Either way it's all the same."
"And now he is trying to get her to give up keeping accounts."

TEACHING THE ARMY TO FLY

(The New U.S. Government Aviation Field at College Park)

by Weldon Hawcett

4th Aeroplane Building

Lieut. Lahm and Lieut. Humphries

The Cooking Department

The First Aeroplane Squad of the U.S. Army

ACCIDENT between Washington and Baltimore, directly on the route of a railroad connecting the two cities, is a tract of land which has just now in the public mind, and is likely to have a more prominent place in the future.

This novel enterprise is the new aviation field of the United States government and it is here that Wilbur Wright—well known as the twin famous brothers who first conquered the air—recently constructed the first of the young American army officers who are to be entrusted with the flying machine which Uncle Sam purchased from the Wrights, at a cost of about $30,000.

The great promulgance of the government's new aviation field arose first from the fact that the wizard Wright, while primarily devoting his time and energies to teaching two chosen army officers how to fly, incidentally carried on interesting experiments during several times and has broken enough world's records to last the average aviator a lifetime. Wilbur Wright and his pupils were on craft at different occasions than they had dreamed possible, and their credit by any other account in the history of the world; have thus turned with the machine in smaller circles than were ever dreamed possible in their early days, and in starting flights without the aid of the usual starting mechanism, and later successfully reveal the wind currents against express trains and ground and indulged in other novel experiments.

So much for the events that have focused attention upon the idea of "farming" that has suddenly put the "aviation" of College Park, Md., in the "the-maps-of-the-world" newspapers' readers of two hemispheres. Equally significant are the prospective happenings that are likely to glow so brightly even greater prospective features of the aviation field, and such astonishing property as may be necessary, shall be made the scene of the Great International Aviation meeting which will, undoubtedly, take place in the probably in the spring. When at the first general aerist free-for-all, recently held in France, Mr. Glenn Curtis, an American, captured first honors in most every one of the seven aeronautic trophy. When European aviators take advantage next year of the earliest opportunity to attempt to recover the captured prize the mist, perhaps, came to the present little-idea's southerly in try for the blue ribbon of the air. This means that the contest will be held at some point in the United States, and it is probable that College Park will be selected.

Circle Mail has every reason to be proud of its latest acquisition, for the selection of College Park for this speciality contest is a commendable rendezvous provided to any government in the world. This is all the more remarkable when it is taken into consideration that the leading European powers, and notably France and Germany, have been giving vastly more attention to all branches of aviation than has this country. The War Department recently took steps to provide a special aviation field no nation had thought it necessary to provide in a specially prepared and equipped sports grounds. One and all there did just as Circle Mail did until recently—made use of a military parade ground in some convenient location.

When United States Army aviation

No. 1 was next delivered to the War Department, the unofficial and official inspectors were all concerned at Fort Belvoir, Illinois, where the treacherous and unscrupulous Wrights had been previously been carried on. Fort Myer, which is located just across the Potomac River from Washington, D. C., is very convenient for the government to inspect the important business of the government aviation field, for the powers that be, at Miss Oshinbuck's capital wish to keep in very close touch with all that is done in military aviation. No. 1 which, however, was almost its only recommendation. The country around Fort Myer is rough and broken up, there are many trees and more woods than are welcome to the aviators. The main reason for this is, of course, the Wright brothers registered objections in the locality when they were visiting the new machine through its lack of use that it was not convenient for the requirements; and when the authorities decided to accept the machine at $2,000,000, provided the Wrights would teach the army to fly, they have been very generous some suitable money for the schooling. After examining various sites the offi-under in charge. Finally selected the area at College Park. Here the government would have a level field of several hundred acres under lease until next spring, and could purchase the property at a later date. The property can be obtained if it is desired to expand the aviation field. Climatic conditions and the wind field, which would be very suitable, indicate that excellent gliding can be carried on during the greater part of the year. There is much work ahead if the military authorities carry out their present program of developing aeronomics. The instruction of the two premier army aviators—Lieutenant Lahn and Lieutenant Humphreys—by Villers, is right and is being followed. The two aviators are to turn over to the Corps how to manage aeronomics flights, when a number of the officers have qualified as a type of instructor. The experiments designed to develop and improve the standard type of aeronomie will be of special reference to military aviation. The government's new aviation field

There are no gratuitous decorations, no treatment booths for the spectators, no vendors of programs or field glasses and other of the incidentals that might be looked for at the scene of a historical banking spectacle. A trail, erected by the United States Forest Service, leads to the parking place of the Airship. The only indication that anything out of the ordinary is afoot is a hundred little signs, all of the same size, posted in the community. All this is quite in line with the policy of the city in charge of the aviation field. None of the "stars" of Uncle Sam's school of applied aeronautics desire to have clappers. They receive continuously the same amount of publicity and many distinguished men make no pretensions to the newspaper attention that they would be just as well to ignore. They could be left to conduct their lives in the same unobtrusive manner as the other citizens in the solitude. The ceremonies that attended the official opening of the Airship were the most unceremonious since the first flight of Wright. A source of information in the city said that the Airship was not a success. The persons test someone hard during their flights, and the likelihood of humanity from clouds was the of the chief arguments in favor of the selection of the present aviation field.

As for the aviation field itself, it is simply a good-sized tract of very level ground from which the small trees are undergoing the process of being removed. The stumps have been removed. The stumps of the aerophone flights had commenced. There are no large trees on the field and there are few buildings anywhere in the vicinity. The field has not the soft tuck of the average well-kept lawn; indeed, its grassy carpet is not equal to that of the ordinary pasture, but this is not a handicap, for the aerophone is equipped with runners and when the machine is in flight these slide over the ground unhindered by small stones or other minor obstacles. At one side of the field is the starting tower of the aerophone with starting rail which can be held in any desired direction from the tower, according to the direction of the wind. When a flight is to be made the aerophone is placed on this rail, supported on sliding wheels, and is held in position by a weight of several hundred pounds which has previously been hoisted to the top of the skeleton-like starting tower. During the flights at College Park, however, the army aviators have several times dispensed with the starting rail and have thrown the flyer along the ground and thence into the air merely by means of the swiftly revolving propellers at the rear of the flying machine.

The only building then far elevated above the government at its new aviation site is the frame structure which serves as an emergency shelter for the aerophone and temporary barracks for the aviators, soldiers completing the Aerophone Squadron whose duty it is to look after this peculiar machine.

The other aviators have found homes in places in the village, near the aviation field, so as to be close to the scene of activities at all times. This is a very high essential, for even the experienced aviator must be ready to advance upon his flight at any moment when a flight cannot be made. A delicate apparatus mounted on the aerophone made registration of the velocity of the wind at all times, and a sudden shifting of the breeze may result in a flight at short notice or a equally sudden postponement of plans.

accidents. Many of the instruction flights at the College Park field are made early in the morning or at sundown, and this circumstance makes it convenient for the aviators to be domiciled near the aviation headquarters.

The aeroplane squad, or aerplane detachment, as it is officially designated, is unlike to this governmental aviation field, the first of its kind in the world and the present little squad of a corporal and six privates will, it is expected, prove the nucleus of an organization that will ultimately number hundreds of men if Uncle Sam requires a big flock of aeroplanes before the time of war. The Aeroplane Detachment represents one branch of the newest and most interesting section of the United States Signal Corps, namely the aeronautical division. The other arm of this service, known as the "balloon detachment," was created something like two years ago, for, be it known, Uncle Sam has been experimenting with spherical and dirigible balloons for a longer period than has been covered by the idealization of the practical side of aeroplaning. The aeroplane detachment was organized only a few months ago, when it was decided that the War Department would purchase one or more of the Wright machines and include them, henceforth, among our standard utensils of war.

The young men of the aeroplane detachment do not make night in the newly required machine. That exciting duty is reserved for commissioned officers of the Signal Corps. However, the enlisted men of the squad do everything imaginable with the aeroplane except to fly it. They keep it in repair; bring it out of the shed when a flight is scheduled; start the motor, and finally more the mechanical hind back into its house after the flight has been concluded.

As has been said, these aviators and specialists make their home on the aviation field. They have sleeping quarters in the aeroplane building and in the rear are tents, where the special cook of the squad cooks and serves meals to the boys. Incidentally, the boys are being all practically telegraph, for it is planned that once the United States Army officers have thoroughly mastered aerial navigation they will inaugurate a series of highly important experiments in wireless telegraphy via war balloons and airships.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"PLEASE tell me how to make friends. I want to be friends with people, but somehow almost everybody thinks I am proud and haughty and really I am not at all," a little girl wrote to me the other day.

And for her sake and the sake of any who may be in similar case with her I am going to require a sentence of Emerson that I used the other day.

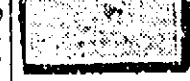

"The only way to have a friend is to be one."

When I hear people bewailing their inability to make friends readily I always think of that quotation and long to ask—

"You want to make friends, but are you ready first to be friends?"

Are YOU?

"That YOU means anyone does not make friends quite so readily as he would like."

When you meet new persons, is your first thought to do something for them, to set them at ease, to be friendly towards them, or are you thinking about how you can make a good impression upon them?

An over-scrupulous desire to make friends almost always defeats itself.

Forget that you are trying to make your new acquaintance like you and concentrate on liking him and see if you do not find that you have made a friend.

I know that people are often unjustly stigmatized as being proud and haughty when they are merely diffident and self-conscious, just as the little girl who wrote to me undoubtedly is.

And I realize that diffidence and self-consciousness are hard to conquer because the more you think about trying not to be self-conscious the more self-conscious you always get.

But there is one perfectly good way to get over these big barriers to friendship, and that is to think so hard about other people that you won't have time or energy to think about yourself and how you are appearing.

If my little girl will try that rule for a time I am pretty sure that she will find that people will cease to regard her as proud and haughty.

In speaking of a woman who, although extremely good and generous, somehow failed to make many friends, Alice Freeman Palmer explains the failure as the result of—

"An absence of heart culture; of that sunshine which melts its own way."

Many people who are not actively proud and haughty are passively at fault in that, like this woman, they lack "heart culture; that sunshine which melts its own way."

Do YOU?

Perhaps the people who feel that the world has not done their desire for friendship justice; who want more friends than they yet possess; who feel within themselves the possibility of being loved and loving more than they yet have, will do well to take the pledge of friendship that the great president of Wellesley college, whom I quote so much, made to herself—

"I will give all the years have brought to my own soul."

"God help me to give what He gave—myself—and help me to make that self worth something to somebody; teach me to love all as He has loved for the sake of the infinite possibilities lodged up in every human soul."

—Alice Freeman Palmer

Fads and Fashions

New York, January 14.—The French tendency toward narrowing the shoulders, flattening the bust and broadening the waist has its influence upon the silhouette here, but only in comparative few cases, as the majority of the well-dressed women in this country have refused to adopt extreme models along that line. American dressmakers say there has been much protest against the pinched shoulder line, and that in coping or altering French models they have usually been asked to devise some way of widening the shoulders.

A familiar way of achieving this narrow line without the awkward narrowing of the seams on the shoulder is the cutting of shoulder and sleeve of sleeve cut in one so that the line is unbroken, though there is no extending fullness at the shoulder point. This compromise has resulted in a much modified version of the Japanese sleeve, the "chiffon" or the Japanese armhole being in most cases eliminated, the sleeve being made comparatively close, but the unbroken line and slight drapery maintained.

The advance of the girdled bodice and the more closely fitted costume coat will help to bring the silhouette back to better proportions. The very smartest of the latest season costume coats in Paris are unquestionably shortened, and in suits being made for the Riviera this tendency is emphasized, as is the blouse idea, belting or some employment of braiding giving much the same effect as belting is also noticeable upon a considerable proportion of these costumes for the season, which, while only tentative guesses at the modes that spring will bring forth, do show what the authoritative French makers consider spring probabilities.

The bodice and skirt arrangements which are in the majority just now, though usually the two are attached to each other under the girdle so that the frock is to all intents and purposes a one-piece affair, are much more easily handled than the genuine one-piece designs and the home dressmaker will be thankful for their return. Of course, there are still many charming models draped all in one piece, and simple arrangements which present a continuous line from bust to knees or lower; but the girdled model is in its own way quite as modish and a large percentage of the latest models from the great French houses are of this type. Therefore this earlier arrangement may be resorted to without the feeling that it involves a departure from the accepted line.

It is true that only an artist could successfully achieve many of the models from the famous makers in Paris, but on the other hand there has not been a time when smartness could be achieved with less ingenuity on the part of the maker, provided the woman ordering the frock has taste, a fine sense of color and a thorough understanding of the limitations of her figure.

Among the models displayed by one of the fashionable shops is a frock of mousseline de soie turned out by one of the famous Parisian designers. The undergarment of the plain mousseline, the corset and overskirt are of mousseline of the same color, sprinkled with little gold paillettes; but there are innumerable sheer materials which might be used for the same model. A satin undergarment and overskirt of mousseline or chiffon on any sheer soft stuff would work out well in this model; and for that matter the whole frock may be of the same material without the paillettes.

Suits of heavy corded silk are rivaling the over-popular velvet costumes. These new and lovely creations are trimmed with fur. The coats are quite short. One of these silk costumes shown in one of the fashionable shops was of dull green, its collar and cuffs being of Persian lamb. With it was carried an immense muff of the same fur. This muff, by the way, was long and very narrow.

One rarely sees a blouse at present that is not the double one of chiffon and lace. The chiffon matches the skirt of the suit and continues the skirt almost as an one-piece dress. A new blouse model is of white moulton silk trimmed with bands of white moulton. A touch of gold is given by the braid ornaments which fasten the blouse at the wrists.

Evening wraps now must match the gown in color. They are of soft materials like chiffon or mousseline. Black and dark blue are still the favorite colors in combination for afternoon and evening. Skirts that are reminiscent of the days of 1880 are being shown by some of the best modistes. They are some of the best modistes. They are some of the best modistes. They are some of the best modistes.

police made their way first, and then followed all manner of garments carrying the insignia of battle, or least of standing in cloth, although the velvet costume had borrowed a ray of trapping now and then. The court suit glistens with gold frogs and brass buttons, and the one-piece frock has an occasional martial fastening. The fur coat has taken on regimental lines, and the military cape is found in evening materials for the opera and in cravatized surfaces for stormy winter days.

Brass buttons abound, the loose leather belt hangs low, suggesting a place for the sabre; and gold fringe may be found for the looking. The so-called Russian blouse is borrowed from the Russian blouse, and it is not straining a point to describe it with straps and buttons. Dinner and opera gowns alone have escaped this touch of the military, but its predominance at every other point in the costuming of women has made up for that one omission.

On the fur coat we are shown metallic buttons fastened on each side of the front, a braided belt, a straight collar, metal trimmings. This is equalled in correct outline by cloth street suits, the skirts of which are straight and plain and the coats of which resemble closely the best military cut. They are strapped across the chest with wide or narrow bands; they are fastened with regular army frogs or they are decorated with horizontal bands of narrow fur from button to button down the double-breasted center panel.

Embroidery and curious gossamer lace in course yarn are used in repeating the customary Russian decoration on Russian bodices, frocks and coats, while the beloved one-piece frock still retains the Moscow Age fringed outline, although it is rendered military by a strange jumble of side fastenings and brass buttons with the medieval hand embroidery.

A new costume for walking is a skirt and jacket of hand-knit wool. It is of a soft cinnamon brown and fits the figure snugly. A high collar buttons at the side, from which the long jacket is fastened in a straight line by bone buttons. A wide leather belt below the waist gives a Norfolk effect. To complete this costume, which Paris has accepted, a tiny woolen muff edged with fur is carried. It is in direct opposition to the huge bolsters which are now in vogue, but its recommendation lies in its lack of weight, a very important consideration for walking tows.

Hats for street costumes are very wide and have large buckles. Imagination games are frequently indulged in them.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

Smart White Beaver Toque; The surely has never been a winter—at least for some years—in which fur, beaver and imitations of fur have played so important a part.

"NINETY THREE"

The Story of a Famous Name and How It Originated

The foremost dermatologist in France, Dr. Sabouraud of Paris, and Professor Unna, Hamburg, Germany, discovered that a microbe caused baldness. To prove their theory, Dr. Sabouraud infected a guinea pig with some of these microbes and in a comparatively short time the animal was devoid of every hair that was on its body.

Some eminent histologists and chemists were employed by the United Drug Co., Boston, Mass., to find the means of destroying these microbes and a remedy that would create a new growth of hair where the hair roots had not been entirely destroyed.

After months of study, experimenting and research work, they discovered what they claimed would do what was demanded. To unquestionably prove their theory, 100 leading druggists, located in as many different cities, were requested to each furnish the name of a responsible person suffering from falling hair and baldness. Each of these 100 persons was furnished three bottles of the preparation with a request to give it a thorough trial and report results.

Five of these people failed to report. Two declared they had been bald for years; that their hair follicles had long been closed, and their scalp was smooth and glossy.

Ninety-three of the 100 sent in enthusiastic reports, stating that they were delighted with the hair-restoring qualities of the preparation, and expressed sincere thanks for the wonderful benefit brought about by its use. In commemoration of this, the new preparation was named Rexall "93" Hair Tonic.

We sell this remedy with the distinct understanding that it is free of cost to the user in every case where it does not completely remove dandruff, stimulate the hair follicles, revitalize the hair roots, stop the hair from falling out, grow new hair and make the scalp free from irritation.

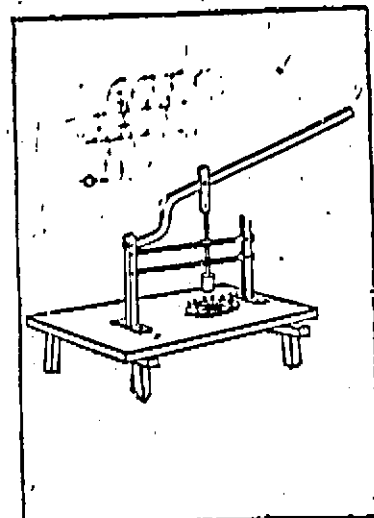

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic comes in two sizes; prices, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Jamesville only at our store, The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

Tonques of fur and beaver and tonques of velvet, fur trimmed, seem to hold first place in My Lady's affections. Nothing could be more charming than this little tonque of white beaver with its chic little tilt and revers, and its general air of coquetry. Laid lightly around the crown are two heavy gold cords, ending on the left side in a smart knot and a tounce of white tonque feathers.

TO CUT POTATOES

Tuber Chopped into Many Slices By One Stroke of Handle.

An implement that will be found useful in large families, hotels and restaurants is the potato cutter designed by a Texan and shown in the illustration. With this a potato can be cut into many parts, for frying or for other purposes, with one stroke of the handle of the machine. Where a great many potatoes have to be cut the time saved by a device of this kind is considerable. A pair of bars, with a plunger pivoted to move up and down through them, is fixed on a platform, in which is a circular hole. In this hole is set a sort of wheel of knife blades, with openings between them. The tuber is placed on this wheel and the plunger is pressed down on it, thus forcing it through and dividing it into many sections, each just the right size for frying. The cutter plate may be made in different sizes, if desired, to give the pieces of potato different forms or to make them larger or smaller.

PEARL DIVER

An Ingenious Toy Which Excites Wonder and Amusement.

The Japanese people have acquired the reputation of "the Yankess of the East" because of their great aptitude at imitation and invention. A clever electrician and inventor, as well as a manufacturer of toys and novelties, has taken advantage of this aptitude and has produced a toy which is a most successful example of it. It is called the "Pearl Diver," and among the former the "diving Venus," which has been recently sent to this country, is a notable example. It takes the form of a doll with head, body and limbs, but it has been necessary to depart somewhat from the lines of the

THE DIVING VENUS.

Venus in the forming of the body of the doll in order to allow the interior to accommodate an efficient capsule which is inserted therein after two or three trials have been made in its paper covering. After the capsule has been secured in place the diver is lowered into deep seas of water, preferably of glass, so that its movements may be more satisfactorily observed. As the water reaches the capsule a gas is generated which raises the form to the surface and then, being released, the doll makes a few seconds until sufficient gas is liberated to bring it again to the surface. These movements are maintained for an hour until the capsule has been exhausted.

NOTES FROM THE LABOR WORLD.

Hungary has almost 150,000 trade unions.

The miners in Dubuque, Ia., have secured a complete victory.

The Machinists' union in Milwaukee has gained more than 100 members since August.

The strike of the photographers in Albany and Troy, N. Y., has been settled by a compromise.

As early as 1834 a mechanics' convention was held at Utica, N. Y., to protect against convict labor.

Preliminary steps have recently been taken looking to the erection of a new labor temple in Fargo, North Dakota.

The leather workers in Ottawa, Ont., have made a demand for higher wages. Some of them are getting as little as $4 a week.

A state federation comprising in its membership about six thousand miners was recently organized in Wyoming and is gaining rapidly.

A convention of the International Transport Workers' Federation will meet in Copenhagen, Denmark, in the early part of August next. The annual convention of the New England alliance of bartenders, cooks, waiters and hotel and restaurant employees' unions will be held at Haverhill, Mass., next week. More than one hundred delegates will represent the New England states at the biennial convention of the railroad clerks to be held at New Orleans, La., next April.

It has been decided that the Massachusetts legislature be petitioned to enact a minimum wage law of $2.25 a day for all state laborers, and particularly for those employed by the water, sewer and park boards.

At the coming meeting of the federated trades council, of Sacramento, Cal., an effort will be made to amend the constitution to the extent of making it obligatory for every delegate to wear a union-made hat.

A state-wide campaign to secure the passage of an employers' liability law in Illinois similar to one which has received the endorsement of officials of the American Federation of Labor will soon be in full swing. The president of the International Retail Clerks' union reports that letters received from different parts of the national jurisdiction show that there has been much activity in the subordinate unions and that membership and finances are booming. Every law pertaining to or bearing on labor and the forces in California at the present time has been condensed into one small and compact volume by the state labor commissioner. This is to meet a constant and increasing demand for such a publication by lawyers, public officials and others.

Helping in charity of a defunct typographical union has incorporated in its book of laws a provision that annually an assessment of one-half of one percent in the October earnings of its members shall be levied, the sum realized to be divided equally between the day nursery and the founding home.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, January 14, 1870.—Boat Sugar.—The subject of the manufacture of boat sugar is attracting not a little attention among the farmers of this county. Very naturally the question is asked—"If an establishment for this manufacture can be successfully run in Fond du Lac, why not here?" This inquiry, we apprehend, will not cease until something practical is accomplished.

Jottings.—Geo. Arnold has challenged William to a skating match at the rink on Saturday night. It will be remembered that Shown was the champion last year. Arnold beat everything in the rink at Fond du Lac last winter. Let them slide.

The fellow Ingersoll, arrested for stealing buffalo robes from a sleigh near the Baptist church, a week ago last Sunday, made a confession implicating one Delos Williams of the town of Union. Armed with a warrant, the Sheriff proceeded to the premises of Williams and found there a silver-plated harness, some buffalo robes, a couple of dressed hogs, some baggages and other articles. He was taken in to custody and his case will be decided at once.

Ice harvesters are busy at work gathering the crop. Nothing could be finer—clear as crystal and just the required thickness.

Capt. Millmore, though seriously injured by his fall upon the sidewalk yesterday, is not badly injured and will be around again in a day or two.

The attendance of scholars in the various departments of the high school building is 30. It will doubtless be still larger when the weather becomes finer.

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A.M., M.D.

After 50, the importance of the annual vacation becomes greater each year. Every middle-aged man should have at least two or three weeks continuous vacation once a year, a longer time would be better. In addition to this, every Sunday should be a day of rest. No man can continue to work "nights and Sundays" the year round without endangering his health. No two men can take their vacation in the same way with equal benefit. There are as many ways of spending a vacation as there are individuals. The one rule should be to live a life different from that of the rest of the year, taking the precaution not to overdo the strength. Many people exercise too much during vacation. What one needs most, especially the active business man, is rest and quiet. I wish to caution you against smoking too much, not only during your vacation, but when at work. The tendency to increase the amount of tobacco used is almost irresistible. Smoking to excess weakens the heart, makes one nervous and short of breath and is altogether pernicious.

Crane Eats Trout Out of Season.

When the sons of Charles Howitt were visiting their traps recently near Silver Springs they found a sick crane lying in the weeds beside the stream and carried him home, placing him in the hen house over night. About an hour afterward they went to see how he was coming on and found him standing five feet high, and on the floor lay an 11-inch brook trout which had stuck in the crane's throat and made him ill.—Nunda Cor. Elkhart Star-Gazette.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

DAILY DIET HINTS.

MEAL-TIME HABIT.

The habit of eating because it is meal time, whether one is hungry or not, is a cause of much digestive disturbance and consequent general ill-health. Undigested food is poisonous, and when there is no physiological demand for food, there is no digestion. The digestive fluids are secreted, not according to the food taken, but according to the needs of the system. If there is real hunger the mouth will water at the sight of food. But an unnatural appetite may be created by the seductive influences of refined cookery, or one may eat from force of habit. Then the system is overburdened with food waste, which is the prime cause of nearly all disease—auto-intoxication. Food should be plain and simple, and one should eat to satisfy natural hunger.
